

Session 19: Reflections on Where All Creation Is Headed

Key Takeaways

- The ultimate goal of creation helps define what is good, that is, human image-bearers on the dry land, farming and having families.
- Genesis 1 presents us with an ideal. When the narrative proper begins, the characters never attain the ideal. As the story continues, it points toward an ideal that has yet to be realized.
- There was potential in the garden of Eden, but not perfection as English speakers would typically define it.

This session has no other notes

Reflection Question

What questions came to mind as you listened to this session?